

Interning with Led2Serve

My connection with Led2Serve started when I traveled to study abroad in Germany with Florida Southern College. At first I did not know what to expect in how to incorporate this with traveling around Germany. To my surprise I fell in love with the process of Led2Serve. Vanessa and Dr. Cummings took us to different schools allowing us to help the children within the schools and play sports with them as well as help them to build a garden. It was such a wonderful experience that when I was offered a position to intern in Costa Rica for a month with them I could not refuse.

My experience in Costa Rica was everything I expected and more. Getting to travel around various areas of Costa Rica and teaching children different sports that they are not used to playing was incredible. Vanessa always had something for us to do whether it was helping a community or showing us the sites of Costa Rica. In Costa Rica I discovered their way of living is so simple that it creates happiness that consumes everyone. It was such a beautiful place that allowed me to discover my passion working with children and without the help of Dr. Cummings and Vanessa I would have never understood my calling in life.

Led2Serve is such a wonderful organization that helps communities grow and friendships evolve. Without Led2Serve I would not have as many connections nor friendships as I do today. I am so thankful that I was offered such a great opportunity to be able to work with such amazing women who have changed my life in a positive way.
